Hello,

I see we are back to the discussion of prayer in our public meetings.

This world is exploding due to Christian groups who feel the need to push their own beliefs on EVERYONE.

There is a separation of government and religion FOR a reason. If Christian churches want to be apart of a say in our government THAN they should be TAXED.

Mr. Burress you are opening a can of worms. If you or your family would like to pray before a meeting, please feel free to do so, but do not push your beliefs on others. I have joined in a prayer, a time or two, before a meeting, but I did not demand everyone else to do the same.

I don't come to government public meetings to pray. That is what churches are for.

By adding prayer, you better be A OK with an Atheist, Muslim, Buddha or a Satanic group to show up and pray at our meetings.

I personally don't need nor want to hear a prayer from SHFC folks ~ Shiney Happy Fake Christians.

Sorry, but this is ridiculous. I will be contacting every group out there to come and "pray" at the meetings if you guys pass this.

Then we will see just see how crazy and uncomfortable we can make folks feel before a meeting.

PRAYER NEEDS TO STAY IN THE CHURCH NOT IN OUR GOVERNMENT.

Thank you, Rhonda Doudna
